Each year, LRIS staff handles more than 35,000 calls from Nevada residents, assisting with various legal situations and providing referrals. When you call the LRIS, an assistant will ask you a series of questions to determine how they can best help you. If it is determined you do need legal assistance, you will be given the name and telephone number of an attorney who accepts cases in the area of law which covers your issue. A confirmation of the referral will be mailed to both you and the attorney. If the attorney is not able to assist you, you may call the LRIS for additional referrals.

All LRIS attorneys are private attorneys and will arrange their fee with you. If you cannot afford to pay an attorney's regular fees, LRIS will either attempt to pre-qualify you for a reduced fee attorney or refer you to another consumer agency. Reduced fee attorneys may charge no more than $25 for the initial consultation, and they agree to charge no more than $75 per hour thereafter. There is no charge for using LRIS. It is a free, non-profit, public service.
